FOREWORD

As, we the students of the Senior Class of Joseph Case High School, leave on this, our graduation night, the pleasant memories of the past four years remain with us. The friends we have made will never be forgotten. To the teachers, we wish to express our deep gratitude for their understanding, their patience, and their help.

As a lasting remembrance of four of the happiest years of our lives, we, the class of 1950, leave this yearbook.

DEDICATION

To Miss Rita Sullivan whose helpful guidance, kindly understanding, and amicable interest have become our symbol of success, we, the class of 1950, dedicate this book.

We, the class of '50, wish to express our gratitude to Mr. Richard B. Greenman, our Superintendent, for his able leadership and untiring efforts during our four years at Case High.

Our most sincere and grateful appreciation go to you, Miss Helen A. Reagan, our Principal. Your unstinted service as our teacher and our friend has made you the most loved teacher in the Joseph Case High School.

Class History

The SS "50" set sail on a four year cruise with 65 aboard, graduation and a New York trip their destination. The company was supervised by Mrs. Adams.

After steam was up, James Greer was appointed captain; Raymond Vaudreuil first mate; Joana Medeiros purser; and Joan Gardner second mate.

The gala crew gave a party on the upper deck at its first port of call, designated the Valentine Dance. Terminating the first year's activities, this dance was an immense success, and was enjoyed by everyone.

The second leg of the voyage was characterized by a change of captain and purser, Edward Hancock and Diane Cardinal, respectively, as well as a new supervisor, Miss Harrington. The highlight of the year was a Christmas Dance.

With another new captain, James Conole; first mate Carolyn Fiske; and second mate, Cynthia Dexter; purser, Diane Cardinal, the third year began. A change of course was now taken and New York was no longer one of their ports of call. However, the crew concentrated on two dances, one being the Junior Prom held at Christmas time. This was to be the start of a traditional affair which they discovered later did not materialize. Nevertheless, this was one of the most successful events of all their ventures. The beautiful decorations gave a glow to the spirit that permeated the air during this joyous season. Another first on the log was the adoption of standard class rings of the school.

With land in sight, a treacherous channel loomed before the crew, the fourth year. They chose once more for this strenuous voyage, James Greer, Captain; Raymond Vaudreuil, first mate; Diane Cardinal, purser; and Joan Gardner, second mate. During the year, the crew was kept busy with several dances, one of which they played host to the islanders of Nantucket.

The careful construction of the "Log" (yearbook), went forward. The ship neared its point of destination — Graduation. As the ship SS "50" docks, with a remaining crew of 55, they wish to extend sincere thanks to Miss Harrington, supervisor; Miss Reagan, principal; Mr. Greenman, their superintendent, and to all others who have guided them on their four year cruise.

Class Prophecy

The year is 1970, and an atomic age of propulsion, haste, and push button mechanism has long ago befallen us. One finds himself completely enveloped by the tantalizing, jet-propelled life, and to seek any exit from this enhanced world would be considered absolutely quaint. Nevertheless, I sought such solitude, and to begin my badly needed vacation I had engaged myself in a slow, relaxing trip on an ocean liner bound for England. But—after bobbing up and down in the briny deep for two weeks on this slow boat to nowhere — or so it seemed — I was beginning to understand Columbus's despair at seeing only water. To be sure I could have taken a jet plane and flown — or should I say streaked — to London in forty-five minutes, but, after all, this slower means of travel by boat is so outmoded that I couldn't resist the exploration of years past.

My first night on board I found, to my utter bewilderment, that the Captain of this immense ocean liner was none other than Eddie Bucher, a classmate from the old days at Case High. He had taken to the sea again and we began chatting about lost memories of our high school days.

Another classmate, who had risen to great heights in the fashion world, had, I discovered, taken the same ship — None other than Barbara Marr, a clothes' stylist, with her own shops in New York, London, and Paris. She could tell me about many of our other friends and classmates.

She had recently gone to Swansea and to hear of that large, prosperous town made me gasp with amazement, for it far excelled its neighbor Somerset.

The high school had expanded into an eight story structure, complete with a gym, seating the thousands that came to watch the famous Swansea hoopsters. Basketball had brought fame to Case High School, as well it should, for Howell Swarm was the eminent coach of the team.

Barbara told me that Shirley Adams was the new English teacher at Case, and if nouns and verbs weren't imprinted in a student's mind by Shirley they never would be.

It seems that several of our classmates had returned to Case High. Ann Burgess had taken her place on the faculty. She was coaching girls' athletics at Case, and her pupils were continually proving their extraordinary athletic ability.

When Barbara and I reached our destination, we parted with the hope that we would meet more of our old classmates. Debarking from the ship, I went to my hotel and was greeted by the manager who was none other than Glenn Larrabee. He told me that the modern London hotel was only one of an international string owned by Kenny Daniello. It seems that Kenny had been on a quiz program and walked away with the jack pot. Strangely enough, he had wisely invested the sum and he now leisurely roamed the world at the expense of my hotel bill!

Touring the premises, I discovered the dining room resplendent with picturesque murals of every imaginable hue. Glenn promptly told me that a duo of renowned American artists had created them. Of course, you guessed it! — the two are Jack Coughlin and Alden Easterbrooks. I understand they are now in India working on another of Kenny's string.

Charlie Moore, I was told, was Kenny's contractor and he is kept very busy fulfilling the demands created by Kenny's building boom.

Later, deciding to tour the city, I hailed a taxi and was whisked away through the busy streets. Even in London people drive on the right side of the street these days, and, of course, no one owns an old fashioned car with four wheels. It is now either three wheels or nothing.

Suddenly a crowd of waiting people caught my eye and I found them to be standing in front of a large restaurant. The taxi driver told me that the place was famous for it's delicious food and I decided to stop. When, after an hour of waiting, I was seated, I glanced at the menu and the bold heading — "Delicious Food by Chef Cabral" caught my eye. Why, this must be Frank and he had become a famous chef in London. It certainly is a small world!

The music so aptly furnished during the meal was by Erwin Sampson's orchestra. He had, it seems, just returned from a tour of the European countries and was stopping off in London before a scheduled trip to South America. He told me he had met Chris Geary who was in Europe gathering information for his latest historical novel. Chris's novels had been placed on the best seller list many times.

Having nothing further to do for the afternoon, I decided to take a quick hop over to Paris. Now you remember the boy who was always talking about jet planes way back in 1950 when he should have been concentrating on Trig and English. Yes, you're right, it was Bill Truesdale, alias "Pilot Bill." Well, his "Tale of Two Cities" had developed into a jet taxi service between London and Paris. While traversing the English Channel, Bill told me about some more members of our class.

It is interesting to find that our old classmates have scaled the world and may be found in every far flung corner of the earth.

John Rabbit and Roland Suprenant are great game hunters in the wilds of Africa and Janice Gadbois has her own dress shop in Providence.

"And," Bill continued, "remember the petite girl who never could seem to stop talking?" Of course," I replied, "Dottie MacDonald." "Well, she is an air-line hostess on the run between Hong-Kong, China and San Francisco, California." On he went and I soon found that our class secretary, Joan Gardner, had her own radio and television program in which she was the featured vocalist. But, not long ago, she gave it all up to marry an up and coming young surgeon. I think he graduated from Case a few years before she did, but his name escapes me at the moment.

"Did you know that Eddie Hancock is a progressive Wall Street financier," asked Bill? "Two of his efficient secretaries who put in many perplexing hours trying to keep up with him, are Diane Cardinal and Lucille Dallaire."

Discovering my jaunt was over, I thanked Bill for the interesting news and descended from the plane at Paris. Walking down the Champ Elysses, I discovered Barbara Marr's Parisian fashion shop and decided to stop in. To my amazement Romaine Gabriel greeted me. She and Lorraine Baldwin were clothes' stylists in Barbara's plush shop. We all chatted together as I admired the latest fashions — the style these days was a featured Venus-Mars planet ensemble. "Did you know," inquired Lorraine, "that Beppie had returned to Holland after becoming a successful child psychologist in the states?" "No," was my startled reply. "Not many of our old classmates seem to be staying in the states do they?"

"Well," Romaine continued, "Helen Mills, who moved to Arizona shortly after graduation, is still out there and she has a large ranch. She has met Tom Harrison a well known cattle dealer and Jimmy Greer who is a big oil executive in Texas. Jim has an interesting hobby to occupy his many idle hours. He has built a midget auto arena on the Texas plains and Walter Malone, one of his partners in the business, has become the "Bill Holden" of 1970." "Now," I said, "that is something I wouldn't have dreamed of way back in 1950." "Neither would we," were Romaine's and Lorraine's replies.

Deciding that if I were ever to do all that I desired before returning to London, I must bid Romaine and Lorraine "Au Revoir," for, after all, I must use proper French, and continued my tour. All at once a familiar voice caught my attention. Placing the sound, I turned and let out a startled — "Hello!" There was Joy Couture standing before me. She certainly acted as surprised as I, and I asked her just what she had been doing. "Why," she said, "I'm studying French here at the Sorbonne, and I then remembered how she had excelled in that subject during our school days. But, I was not prepared for her next declaration. Jimmy Conole was a professor of Physics at the Sorbonne. I thought — oh dear! For I recalled how completely he used to perplex us all in Mr. Dalton's Physics class. If he were perplexing in English, what must he be in French? Joy laughed and I told her all the news I had heard on my trip.

She only recently had received a letter from Carolyn Fiske, who was the Home Economics Expert for General Goods. The delicious recipes that Carolyn creates are in demand by all the exclusive restaurants throughout Europe. "Her friend, Marcia Wakefield, is the Interior Decorating Editor for the Harper's Bazaar and doing very well," said Joy.

"Do you know what Joan Hancock is doing, Joy?" "Yes, she's back in the states in Chicago. She studied nursing as a profession, you know, and she now directs the school of nursing in a large Chicago hospital. When she has time she models for a national fashion magazine." "That is quite a busy career," I remarked, "but I'm sure Joan loves it."

"Here's another surprise," said Joy "Remember Leo Zacks and his long line of jabber?" "Why, yes, don't tell me he employs it now!" He certainly does for he is a lawyer in a Boston firm, which recently won a contract for ship building executive, Bill Moore. Bill employed Leo's services, feeling quite confident that Leo's trend of speech would win any contract. After having heard only a short preview of Leo's ability, Judge Lloyd Patterson awarded Bill the contract. He felt that if Bill had the courage to employ Leo, he certainly had the stamina to carry out the complicated terms of the contract.

"Leo isn't the only one who has used his loquacious talent to gain better ends," said Joy. "Who else then," I asked completely forgetting Ray Vaudreuil. The answer I received didn't surprise me for I discovered that Ray had taken Joe Martin's place in politics. Ray is quite a prominent political figure in Washington and he has as his secretary, Jane Hodgkinson. She spends most of her time in Washington keeping Ray's "fan-mail" in order.

"I've just about exhausted my knowledge of our classmates whereabouts," Joy concluded and both of us, agreeing that it had been a pleasant recollection, departed, each in his own direction.

Returning to London that evening, I lazily whiled away the rest of my vacation and, instead of returning by ocean liner to the states, I vetoed that idea in favor of the faster mode of travel offered by plane.

My pilot on the return trip was Bruce Simcock who flew daily from London to New York. I inquired about his old friend, Ernie Rebello, and found that Ernie had gone out to California to play in the band started by Benny Goodman and now led by Goodman's musical son. He also told me that Eileen Ingram was out in Hollywood and had taken Louella Parson's place as a Hollywood Gossip Columnist. Then, he said, "Have you ever seen the new T. V. show entitled "My Friend Yvonne?" "No," I replied, "I'm afraid I haven't." "You should," said Bruce, "Yvonne Manton is the star and there hasn't been anything funnier since "My Friend Irma" terminated." I can well imagine the dilemma Yvonne creates on T. V.

As the plane turned homeward, I looked around at the dozing passengers. Seated half way down the aisle from me was none other than Wally Sunderland. When he saw me, he came over to inquire what I was doing and how I happened to be on the same plane. Demanding the same questions of him I discovered that he had been vacationing in Switzerland after spending an exhausting season as manager of the New York Yankees. The Yankees were just not co-ordinating their ability and the whole team had driven Manager Sunderland to despair. Wally said that he had been trying to buy Bob Johnson from the Boston Red Sox but the Sox recognized a good player when they saw one and Bob was not for sale. We talked on about nothing in particular, for Wally could not supply me with any additional classmate news.

When I reached New York once again, I decided to continue the investigation of my former classmates' present activities. I visited Carl Hagensen, who was a roving reporter for the New York Times and asked him if he could supply the missing links. He gave me that innocent "I didn't do it" grin that he always wore at Case and told me that Beverly Jacobson had established a "Models' Agency" on Fifth Avenue which was beginning to rival Harry Conover. Thanking him, I left, hoping to complete my information with Bev.

Arriving at the agency, I found it to be one of magnificence with the latest of modern furnishings. Greeted at the door by a familiar, friendly face, I found myself being ushered around by Judy Silva. Feeling that if Judy were here Joana Medeiros would most likely not be far off, I began looking about me. Sure enough, I spied Joana at the receptionist's desk busily making appointments for Beverly's models. She smiled when she saw me and immediately began asking hundreds of questions about all our old friends.

A short time later Beverly appeared on the scene and, hurriedly told me, before again dashing off, that Rita Agnello had been married and her children, quadruplets, were entering Case High School in the fall. Case has had many twins, but quads, oh dear!

"And what of Lois Lloyd," I asked. "Oh," replied Beverly, "haven't you heard that Lois has a daily half-hour radio program on Household Hints?" Well, I never would have believed that Lois would be the loquacious type.

Juliette Giovino and Connie Kenny have a secretarial school in Providence and are doing very well. Their secretaries are in constant demand.

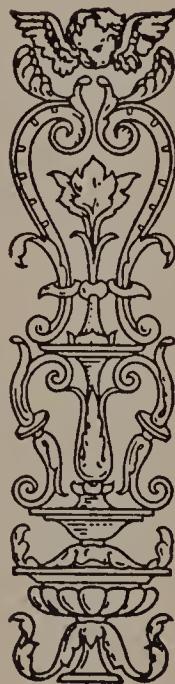

That just about closes the memory book, but two people are still bothering me. "Who are they?" asked Beverly. "I haven't heard anything about Alberta Marx and Mr. Williams," I answered. "Let's see, I read in a news item last week that Alberta was the secretary to a U. N. delegate. She travels a great deal to cover her many duties." "That does seem quite probable," I said, "because Alberta had been Mr. Edgar's bustling secretary in 1950".

"Mr. Williams is the new Secretary-General of the U. N. and everyone seems confident that his policies will subdue Russia, if anything will."

"Well, that takes care of everyone in our famous class," I said. "They have covered many areas of the world in their occupations and professions. I feel my trip has been an immense success and I am ready to shuffle around again in the metropolis of life where I occupy a small space as a busy nursing supervisor."

Bidding everyone "Good-bye" and the "Best of Luck," I hurried away.

Class Will

We, the members of the Class of 1950 of the Joseph Case High School of Swansea, Massachusetts, hereby proclaim this to be our last will and testament:

To the Faculty: The Class of "50" leaves its deepest appreciation, sincere gratitude, and heartfelt thanks for their daily encouragement, constant guidance, tireless patience, and undying efforts in teaching us. Your efforts have not been in vain.

To the Juniors: We gladly give, without reservations, our most valuable and prized possessions. Namely: our intelligence, our knowledge, our personality, and popularity, our good looks, our dignity, and our importance. Of these we have an unlimited quantity and we feel that they can be used to your advantage. To the juniors we also bestow our most prized possession, our rights as seniors. This includes permission to use our seats in rooms four and five, and in assembly hall, permission to use all our old books, notebooks, pencils and pens, and all other articles and details too numerous to mention.

To the Sophomores: We leave our ability to handle the teachers, our patience, determination, and perserverance. You will find these useful in tormenting the juniors.

To the Freshmen: We leave our good manners, our tactfulness, and our charm. Your class can certainly use these.

To the incoming class we leave a few words of sound advice. Pay very little attention to the present freshman class. They just think they know all about it in one year. But — they'll come down from their pedestals soon.

Because of the departure of the class of "50" we feel that the school will be without our warmth, pep, and energy, so we leave the custodians, once more the job of heating the building until another class of our vitality comes along.

Last but not least, we leave to the school the peace, and serenity, which it lacked during our occupancy.

Individual students leave smaller treasures which are as follows:

Frank Cabral leaves his charm with the girls to any future Casanovas.

Shirley Adams leaves her dainty, ladylike walk to Milton Greer (Chris)

Tom Harrison leaves his big brown eyes to "Elsie".

Walter Malone leaves his long legs to Harry Manning.

Juliette Giovino leaves her manners to Emily Post.

Beverly Jacobson bequeaths her flirtatious eyes to Joy Deane.

Eddie Hancock leaves the freshman girls heartbroken.

Lois Lloyd leaves her "Gift of Gab" to Grace Conboy.

Lucille Dallaire bestows her dignity upon Carolyn Mayes.

Ann Burgess leaves to become the first Democratic woman President of the United States.

John Rabbitt leaves his smile to the Ipana ads.

Howell Swarm leaves his stubbornness to the "Mules".

Joy Couture leaves her sweet disposition to the pickle industry.

Carolyn Fiske leaves her shiny sax to Barbara Kerr.

Billy Moore leaves the waves in his hair to the Toni Company.

Ernest Rebello and Erwin Sampson leave with Bugs Bunny in a rocket headed for Mars.

Judy Silva wills her stately build to Walter Chapman.

Rita Agnello commits her dark lipstick to Betsy Goss.

Lorraine Baldwin leaves her wardrobe of style to Jackie Pickens.

Bruce Simcock leaves Mr. Dalton happy.

Helen Mills bestows her pep upon Marion MacDonald.

Billy Truesdale leaves for Hollywood where he will replace Johnny Weismuller as Tarzen.

Diane Cardinal leaves with Gene Kelly.

Joana Medeiros leaves to milk the cows.

Jimmy Greer leaves his "drag with the faculty" to Dana Nickerson.

Bob Johnson leaves in a wheel chair.

Glenn Larrabee leaves civilization and goes back to Rehoboth and the Indians.

Jane Hodgkinson leaves her sister Ann to carry on the name of Hodgkinson.

Roland Suprenant leaves as quietly as he came.

Alberta Marx wills her short sleeved sweaters to Betty Grable.

Chris Geary bequeaths his originality to Jean Methe.

Marcia Wakefield leaves her position as office assistant second period to Carolyn Douglass.

To the surprise and satisfaction of all the teachers, Barbara Marr quietly departs.

Ray Vaudreuil finds it hard to leave for he has discovered high school can be very JOY-ous.

Joan Hancock leaves her flowing tresses to Carolyn Reese.

Janice Gadbois leaves her worn books to Stan Johnson.

Connie Kenney bestows her curls upon Butch Archer.

Edward Bucher leaves his ability to study fifth period to Norman Cardoso.

Joan Gardner leaves gum in Miss Sullivan's waste-basket.

Beppi den Hartog leaves her French accent to Charles Boyer.

Kenny Daniello leaves his brains to medical research.

Alden Easterbrooks leaves to hunt mink.

Cyn Dexter bestows her nimble fingers upon Frankie Carle.

Mr. Williams wills his thick tresses to Ronald DeBlois.

Carl Hagensen bestows his rolly-polly constitution upon Sheila Kerr.

Leo Zacks leaves!

James Conole leaves still owing a huge bill unpaid in the lab.

Jack Coughlin leaves with the profit from the cafeteria to take a trip across the border.

Dot MacDonald leaves to become a professional "spatter" painter.

Eileen Ingram bestows her glasses upon John Pavo.

Wally Sunderland bequeaths his massive muscles to Charlotte Duckworth.

Lloyd Patterson drives away in his new Cadillac.

Charlie Moore leaves looking for "Sugar, spice, and everything nice."

Yvonne Manton leaves to request, "I Can Dream Can't I?" for a certain P. D. teacher.

Romaine Gabriel departs for heaven where she will be Peter's official trumpet player.

Signed, sealed, and delivered, the fifteenth day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand, nine hundred and fifty!

GOD SAVE THE CLASS OF "50".

REMEMBER THE "GOOD OLE DAYS" WHEN:

Coach Greene got locked in his office?

Yvonne went to the hospital to have her knee fixed and came back minus her appendix?

Barbara Marr took a mud bath in the dam?

James Conole wanted to sterilize a graduated cylinder by putting it in a hot flame?

We used to salute the flag with Mrs. Kovacs?

Case won a basketball game?

The moistened mistles flew in 26?

Beverly Jacobson had her homework done in English?

Wally Sunderland went out with Sally Chase?

Ray Vaudreuil swapped his ring three times in one day?

Swarm went with Joan instead of Dot?

Eddie Hancock had a "butch?"

Billy Truesdale picked up the desks in room 22?

Helen Mills didn't giggle?

Lois Lloyd talked a mile a minute? (I don't)

Ken Daniello broke Mr. Bannister's ribs?

Yvonne Manton requested "I Can Dream Can't I?" for Coach Green?

Billy Moore had a "TONI"?

Wally Malone and Jimmy Conole made cookies for French III?

The excuses Leo Zacks made in English that didn't seem to fit the case?

We got our class rings?

We timidly entered high school the 6th of September in '46 as frightened freshmen; then, we boldly entered high school the 8th of September in '49 as high-and-mighty seniors?

Cyn Dexter had looooooooooong hair?

The Case boys took first place in the '49 Narry track meet?

FAMOUS QUOTATIONS FROM THE HALLS OF J. C. H. S.

Is that you talking? Why was it you?
What do you think this is? A tea party?
All Right girls! (Football practice)
All right, seniors, get out!
Don't slam those desks!
Close that window!
Here's the bright boy who wants to start an explosion.
Please folks! (?)
My dear young man!
That's no excuse!
Report to me at 2 P. M.
Put that gum in the basket!
This is the last time!
From my experiences in guided mistles, it came from that corner of the room! (?)
Back when I was skiing down the Alps!
Why, when I was in school!
I'm getting serious now, I mean it!
You owe me some money! (lunch)
Now when you go to college they won't stand for that!
All right now, settle down!
Walter!
Any questions?
First row pass!
Did you do your homework? Can I borrow it?
Is that you making that noise?
This is no social hour! (or is it?)

D. A. R. GIRL

Each year the students and faculty of Case High School choose a D. A. R. girl who possesses the fine qualities of good citizenship. This year the honor was conferred upon Carolyn Fiske.

Carolyn has been an outstanding student all through her high school days and is known well for her dependability and cheerfulness. She is a member of the High School Orchestra and Band as well as the Glee Club and the French Club. Last year as a junior she won the American Legion Oratory Award for public speaking.

It is with sincerest pleasure that we, the class of 1950, wish you, Carolyn, the greatest happiness and success possible.

HARVARD AWARD

This year the Harvard Book has been awarded to Donald C. Walton. Each June the Harvard Club of Fall River gives this book to the most outstanding boy in the Junior class and Donald justly deserves this honor. He is intelligent, cooperative, gentlemanly, athletic, and ambitious.

The faculty and students of the Joseph Case High School hope Donald will find this award a symbol of success; and they wish him daily happiness and good luck.

ALMA MATER

Our strong bond can ne'er be broken
Form'd in dear Case High,
Far surpassing wealth unspoken,
Seal'd by friendship's tie.

Mem'ry's leaflets close shall twine
Around our hearts for aye
And waft us back o'er life's broad track
To pleasures of past day.

High School life at best is passing,
Gliding swiftly by;
Then let us pledge in work and deed
Our love for dear Case High.

Chorus: Alma Mater—Alma Mater
Deep graven on each heart,
Ode victorious, we go singing
As from these halls we depart.

Harvard Book—Donald C. Walton

Class Flower: American Beauty Rose.

Class Advisor: Miss Dorothy Harrington.

CLUBS

THE FRENCH CLUB

Once again, Mrs. Papandrea has organized the third-year French students into an active French Club. This club was kept busy throughout the year with the publication of the monthly French paper "La Classicale." A French play, "Le Medicin Malgre de Lui" was presented and enjoyed by the entire school. On the lighter side, numerous parties and excursions were thoroughly enjoyed. The officers of the club were:

President

James Conole

Secretary

Beppie den Hartog

Vice-President

Walter Malone

Treasurer

Cynthia Dexter

PROJECTION CLUB

The purpose of the Projection Club is to facilitate the use of an Audio-Visual Aids program in the school. The program sponsored by the club has become very popular not only in the high school but in the grammar school as well. Through the year the Projection Club was active in presenting films for many classes.

Mr. Edgar was the club's advisor and assisting him were:

President:

John Coughlin

Vice President:

Oliver Jackson

Secretaries:

Alberta Marx

Shirley Adams

Other active members include the following students:

Alden Easterbrooks
Edward Hancock
Walter Malone
Donald Walton

Norman Cardoso
James Grocott
Ronald Bumpus
Frank Misiorski

CAMERA CLUB

The field of photography has, after a lapse of several years, once again found its place within Case High. Interested students have organized a Camera Club with Robert Smith, a Case alumus, as their instructor.

With Robert Daley, the club's president, the group has studied many phases of photography and has employed their knowledge by practical application in the photographic field.

New equipment procured by the group has greatly aided the facilities of this group and it is hoped it will expand next year into a prosperous and interesting club.

MICROSCOPE CLUB

One of the most interesting studies in the world today is the minute organisms seen through the microscope. The Microscope Club, consisting of freshman from the science classes, are studying these phenomena and are progressing rapidly and efficiently. Classes of Biology, Zoology, and Botany are more easily understood and the pupils of the organization attain a basic understanding of these studies by use of their present activities.

DRAMATIC CLUB

The Case High Dramatic Club, led by Charlotte Duckworth and Joan Gardner, has had an extremely difficult struggle for survival this year. Mrs. Benjamin E. Kovacs, who was the club's director, resigned early in the year, leaving the club without an advisor. Mrs. Carl W. Brodt substituted for her until they presented "Dicken's Christmas Carol." The leads were played by Gordon Luther, Donald Walton, Carolyn Souza, Harry Manning, and Louis Dastous.

The cast presented such a fine performance for school students, they were invited to repeat their performance at a meeting of the Kickemuit Grange.

ACTIVITIES

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

OFFICERS

President James Greer

Vice President Raymond Vaudreuil

Secretary Joan Gardner

Treasurer Diane Cardinal

MEMBERS

Carol Anderton

Pauline Hibbert

Frank Misiorski

Beverly Ash

Ann Hodgkinson

Dana Nickerson

Betsy Goss

Marion MacDonald

Robert Sprague

Roger Grover

Margaret Malone

Nancy Warburton

The members of the Student Council are made up of the officers of four classes, the seniors serving as the officers of the council.

The duty of the Student Council is to help make the laws which govern the school and see that they are carried out. This year the Student Council has been holding dances to raise money for a scholarship fund to some deserving senior at the end of the year.

CHEERLEADERS

Yes! Everyone could hear the cheering. The cheerleaders, along with the newly formed Pep Squad, under the capable leadership of Miss Dorothy Rech, brought life and color to the pep rallies and the the games.

Through our victories and defeats the girls who cheered the players on were: Gene Beynon, Joy Deane, Beverly Jacobson, Joan Hancock, Joan Gardner, Barbara Marr, Ann Burgess, and Dorothy MacDonald.

They leave the spirited tune "On to Victory" dwelling in our memories forever.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The Case High School Music Department has shown a marked increase in the number of pupils interested in the art during the past year. With the added support of a new Junior Girls' Glee Club, social events put on by the organization were greatly successful.

There are five main divisions of our high school's music department. These are: The Senior Girls' Glee Club, The Junior Girls' Glee Club, The Boys' Glee Club, The Mixed Chorus, and the Case High Orchestra.

The members of these groups wish to take this opportunity to thank Miss Irene Silvia, their Director, for her inspiring leadership.

Members of the various choral groups have worked diligently in conjunction with Miss Silvia in the public performances which include: The Christmas Concert, The Minstrel Show, The Junior Red Cross Entertainment Work, and Graduation Exercises.

Desirous of another fruitful and successful year, the members of these five groups, with the exception of those leaving, are looking forward to the time when they will again be able to take part in the events sponsored by the Case High Music Department.

LIBRARY AIDS

Under the capable guidance of Librarian, Miss Rita Sullivan, the Case High Library Aides have once again completed a year of unselfish service to the undergraduates. Each girl forfeits at least one study period in order to devote the whole time to care and supervision of the books. Because the library has grown to twice the size of last year's, it requires four girls on duty every period.

Miss Sullivan organized the group into a literary club. The officers are:

President: Joana Medeiros

Secretary: Carolyn Fiske

Vice-President: Cynthia Dexter

Treasurer: Joycelyn Couture

Methods of improving both the library and the service rendered are the objects of the meetings.

Girls who are serving as library aides this year are:

Irene Durand

Shirley Giovino

Margaret Gaskell

Helen Mills

Pauline Desruisseaux

Hilda Medeiros

Jane Hodgkinson

Nancy Warburton

Shelia Kerr

Joan Hancock

Carolyn Reese

Lilly Wardel

Jacqueline Pickens

Lorraine Baldwin

Joana Medeiros

Joycelyn Couture

Yvonne Manton

Catherine McNeil

Jennette Rousseau

Constance Kenney

Rita Agnello

Lucille Dallaire

Ann Hodgkinson

Diane Cardinal

SPORTS

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

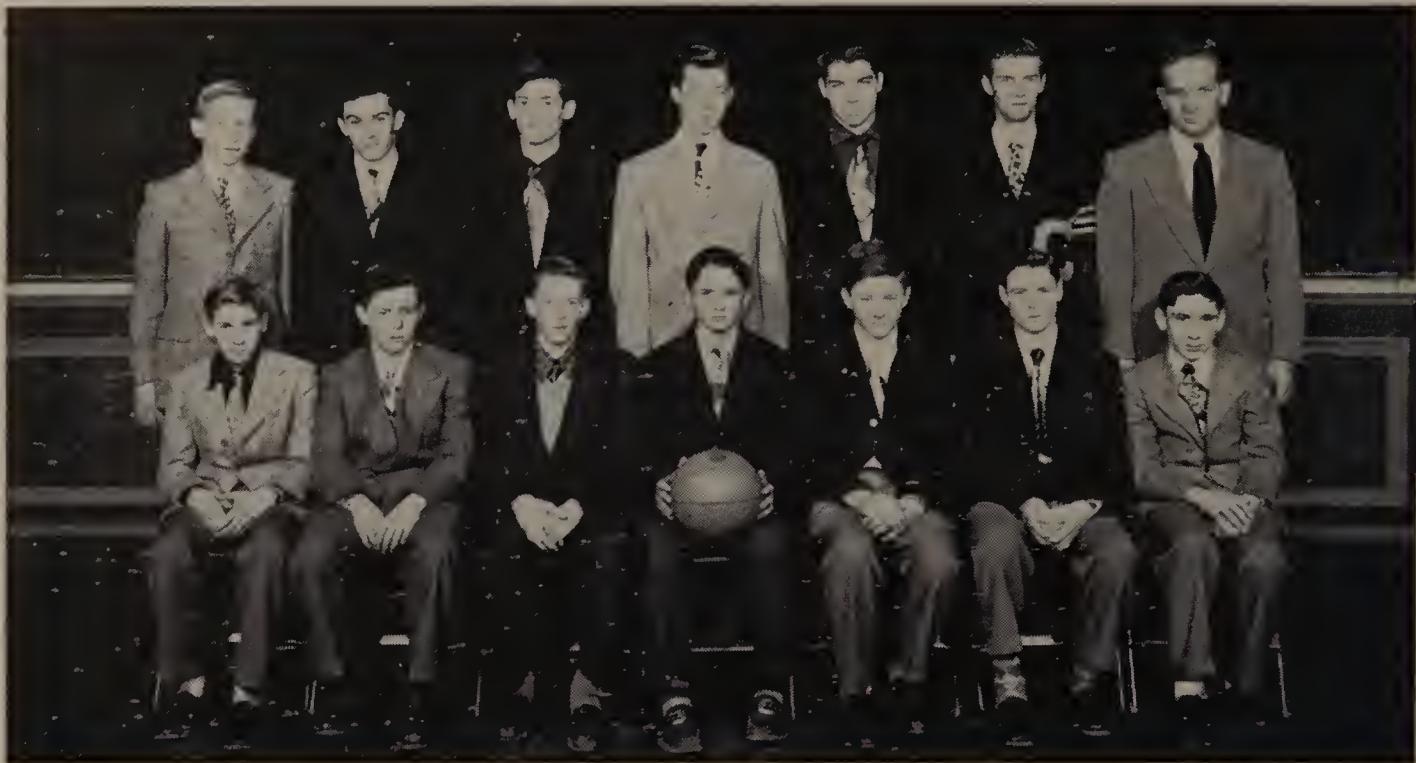

This year, for the first time in the history of Case High, the Case girls participated in the girls basketball league. Under the capable direction of the physical education director, Miss Dorothy Rech, they had great hopes that their first year would be a successful one. The members of the varsity squad were: Ann Burgess, Captain; Nancy Warburton, Paula Deubel, Sheila Kerr, Betsy Goss, Gene Beynon, and substitutes Shirley Higginbottom, Eleanor Perron, Marion MacDonald, and Beppie den Hartog. It was a very busy year for them as they faced such experienced rivals as New Bedford, Fairhaven, Dighton, Somerset, Durfee, Westport, Dartmouth, New Bedford Vocational, and Bristol Aggie.

BOYS BASEBALL TEAM

Full of vim, vigor, and vitality the Case High Cardinals appear on the diamond this year determined to fight for the Narry League Pennant for Baseball.

Not only the team, but the whole student body is filled with enthusiasm and hope. With such close co-operation between Coach Arnie Green and Captain Jim Greer we are assured of a good, tough, clean fighting Cardinal squad during this '50 season.

BASKETBALL

Case went through another rough basketball season during 1950, winning only one of a large number of games. There was, however, a little consolation through the invitation to participate in the Small Schools Tournament in Boston. The game was "nip and tuck" all the way and as the final buzzer sounded it was a tie. As the first overtime period ended it was still a tie score. A "sudden death" was played but luck just wasn't with Coach Green's boys. They went down to defeat 40-38. Let us hope that the boys next year will show a better record.

Lettermen were:

Captain Bob Johnson
Ray Vaudreuil
Wally Sunderland
Bob Mickool
Howell Swarm
Manager John Coughlin

Leo Zacks
Bill Moore
Tom Holleran
Dana Nickerson
James McKenny

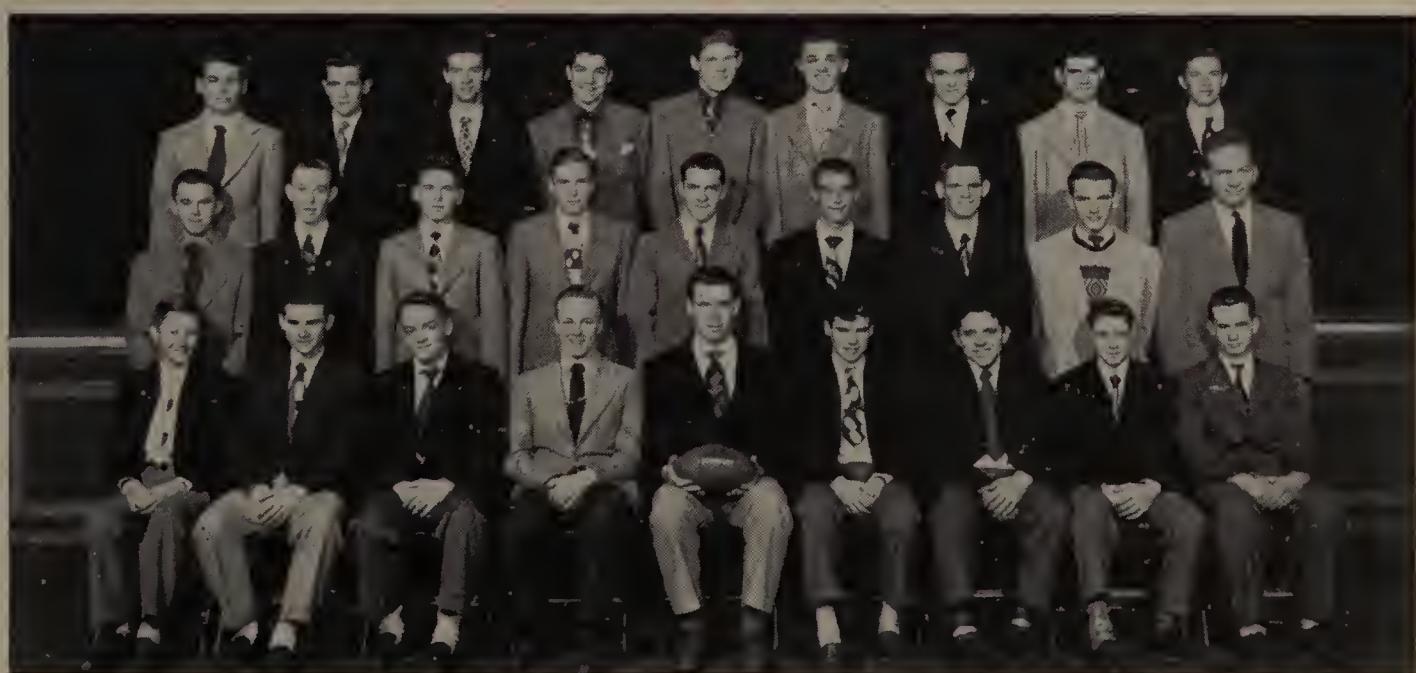

FOOTBALL

Through the loss of ten lettermen in June 1949, Case was forced to a mediocre football season. With only four lettermen returning: Swarm, Jim Greer, Sunderland, and Kenworthy, a new team had to be built. Under the direction of the new coach, Arnold Greene, a fine spirit was formed. After getting off to a good start, winning the first three games, the tide turned and the team tied one and lost three. Case was victorious over Nantucket, Holy Family, and St. Andrews. The annual Thanksgiving Day game was not all that could be expected. The Cardinals just didn't have the goods to beat an inspired Somerset team and they went down to defeat 25-6.

The following men received varsity letters: Wally Sunderland, Captain; Ken Daniello, Ray Vaudreuil, Frank Cabral, Howell Swarm, Bill Moore, James Greer, Glenn Larrabee, Bob Johnson, Wally Malone, Dana Nickerson, Dick Burnside, Huge Kenworthy, Jim McKenny, Dick Lund, and Cris Greer.

Wally Sunderland and Cris Greer were placed on the All Narry First Team and Jim Greer was placed on the second team.

BOY'S TRACK TEAM

For the first time in it's history Case had an organized track team for the annual meet at Dighton. It was without a doubt the best rounded team at the meet — as it proved. Case placed at least one man in either first or second place in each event, with the exception of the high jump, where she had to be satisfied with third place.

At the end of the boys' events Case led the meet with thirty-three points.

This team was organized under the able leadership of Mr. William Edgar. Mr. Edgar will again coach the team this year.

The boys participating were:

Robert Swain	Lloyd Patterson
Robert Worthen	Wally Sunderland
Robert Deubel	William Gilger
Robert Duckworth	Alden Easterbrooks
Charles Kenyon	Hugh Kenworthy
Phil Gladeau	James Greene
Howell Swarm	Donald Walton

Of this group, all but the first six persons will return this year.

GIRLS' TRACK

Last year in Case High School, for the first time, a girls track team was formed under the guidance of Miss Dorothy Rech. The events that the girls took part in were: softball throw, broad jump, high jump, 50-yard dash, 880-yard relay.

The meet was held at Dighton last June, and the girls who participated in these events were:

Gene Beynon
Ann Burgess
Beverly Schroder
Grace Conboy
Betsy Goss
Pauline Hibbert
Sheila Kerr

Dorothy MacDonald
Arlene Macomber
Barbara Marr
Eleanor Perron
Jackie Pickens
Nancy Warburton

This meet has been established as an annual affair, and it is hoped that the Case girls will do their utmost to represent their school to the best of their ability in the years to follow.

"TALENT"

Art Critic: "Ah! And what is this? It is superb! What soul! What expression!"

John Coughlin: "Really? That's where I clean the paint from my brushes."

"CHARMS"

The teen-ager was preparing to attend a high school dance.

"Bill Truesdale," said his mother, "did you take a bath?"

"Aw Mom, I don't have to," was the reply, "this one isn't formal."

"CAN'T BE DONE"

Howell Swarm: "Sir, I want your daughter for my wife."

Irate Father: (Mr. Hopkinson) "Young man, you go home and tell your wife that she can't have my daughter!"

"LAST RESORT"

Mr. Connolly: "Use your noodle, Helen! Use your noodle!"

Helen Mills: "My goodness! Where is it? I've pushed and pulled everything in the car."

"WITTY"

Roland Suprenant: "Betcha you can't climb up that beam of light that's shining in the window."

Bruce Simcock: "Do you think I am crazy? I'd get half way up and you'd turn it off."

"BRIGHT STUDENT"

Joana Medeiros: "You ought to take Chloroform."

John Rabbitt: "Yeh? Who teaches it?"

"LESSON IN GEOGRAPHY"

Mr. Edgar: "What are the people of New York noted for?"

Charles Moore: "The people of New York are noted for their stupidity."

Mr. Edgar: "Wherever did you get that information?"

Charles Moore: "From our books. It says, 'The population of New York is very dense.'"

"ON THE ROAD TO RECOVERY"

The patient was getting better. She asked repeatedly for food. Finally the nurse fed her a spoonful of rice.

"That was wonderful!" Judy Silva said, as she finished. "Now bring me a postage stamp. I want to read."

"HE DID HIS SHARE"

Miss Reagan: "So you admit this young freshman was carried to the pond and thrown in with his clothes on. Now, what part did you take in this disgraceful affair?"

Jimmy Greer: "The left leg."

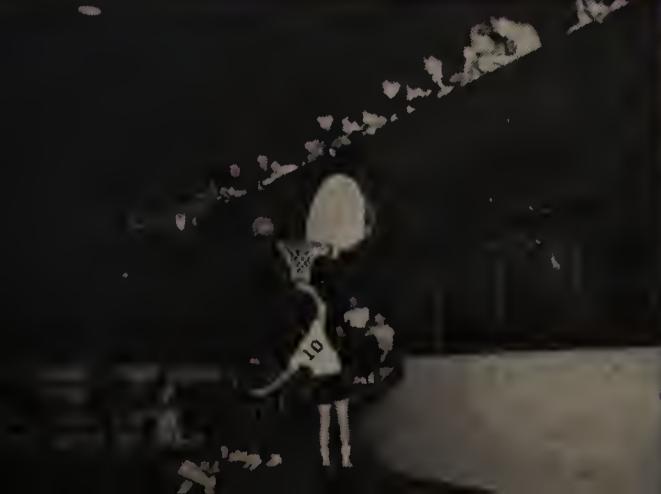

"BRAINS"

FORMULA FOR SUCCESS

First, Graduate from High School.

Next, Take a one-year Secretarial or Accounting Course in a good Business School.

Then, Attend College, if you can.

A business or secretarial course will always be handy—at college, for taking notes or for earning personal expenses; and, if you should drop out of college for any reason (like father's death) you will have a practical training to fall back on and to earn a good living.
